- (OSCR notifiable events process) A recent review of this process by OSCR has found that this scheme was not always achieving its aims. Mismatched perceptions and expectations around the use of Notifiable Events, the responsibilities of charity trustees, and the role of OSCR in dealing with the issues raised.
- How should charities deal with and report important issues?
- All charity trustees should be familiar with the charity trustee duties they are legally required to follow. If an issue has been dealt with effectively and the problem has been resolved, there's no need to notify OSCR.

The project is progressing well, the bank account set up, and has obtained some funding from Dundee Community Food network.

Scott Bricknall SFRS Report Attached

As per our discussion on Thursday night please find attached the link for the SEPA site for reporting flooding.

It is important that we get this information out to the public, partners, and businesses in order that we can firstly protect them, but also ensure that the SEPA statistics are updated to reflect the climatic conditions we are experiencing now.

Equally, accurate indicators and information will more likely support our case should we need to get funding for mitigating the effects of any flooding.
