2001 CENSUS NOTES AND DEFINITIONS

NOTES

- Ward Geography: The main building blocks for the Census are Output Areas. The statistics presented within this publication are based on aggregations of output areas by the GROS denoted as Census Area Statistic Wards. They fall within a Council Area boundary and meet a threshold of 20 households and 50 persons.
- Time series Analysis: 1991 and 2000 Census figures are not directly comparable due to differences in definition and data collection methods.

DEFINITIONS

- Communal Establishment: Includes hospitals, homes, prisons, hotels, hostels, educational establishments
- Communal Establishment Resident: Any person who has been living or intends to live in the establishment for 6 months or more. In 1991 this was defined as any person who had spent 6 months or more in the establishment.
- Dependent Child: Those aged 0-15 plus those aged 16-18 in full time education living with family or parents.
- Household: An occupied household space. Consists of one person or a group with common housekeeping.
- Household Space: Accommodation for an individual household. Can be occupied or unoccupied.
- Industry: Coded to a modified version of the UK Standard Industrial Classification of Economic Activities 1992 (SIC92)
- Limiting Long Term Illness Includes any long-term illness, health problem or disability which limits daily activities or work.
- Migration: A migrant is someone who lived at a different address a year before Census day.
- Population Base: The resident population base on Census night. This relates to where people usually live as opposed to where they were on Census night. It includes absent residents. It does not include students and schoolchildren studying away from home who are counted at their term time address.
- Students, school children and communal establishment residents have been treated differently in 2001. The resident population base is therefore only broadly comparable to the usually resident population base used in 1991.
- Social Grade: An approximation of the socio-economic classification used by market research and marketing industries.
- Students & Schoolchildren: Those studying away from the family home are counted as resident at their term-time address. In 1991 students and school children were treated as resident at their family home address.
- Working Full-Time: Working 31 hours a week or more.
Working Part-Time: Working 30 hours a week or less.
